

September's Book Of The Month

At Her Command* by Marcia James

Marcia James's first published novel, At Her Command, is a comic romantic suspense that pokes fun at the alphabet soup of D.C. law enforcement agencies. When the DEA, the FBI and the DC police unknowingly put operatives undercover at the same club, sexy sparks fly. It was an August 2006 release from Cerridwen Press.

Marcia had been writing romance for about 6 years before getting the call. Her advice for unpublished hopefuls? "Don't wait until you get "The Call" to start planning your author brand and Web site!" Here are some more fun facts about author, Marcia James.

Dine Out or Eat In?

Dine out for a romantic evening with my husband; eat in for dessert. ;-)

Truth or Dare?

Truth

Food: Mexican or Italian?

Italian. Pasta is the food equivalent of love!

City or Country?

City.

Letterman or Leno?

Leno

New or Vintage?

Vintage.

Planner or Go With The Flow?

Planner with a love for new experiences -- at least in the shopping arena!

Thanks Marcia! You can find out even more great things about Marcia James at her Web site: www.MarciaJames.net.